at the European Patent Office in Munich
October 27th 2014
as of 9 am

On this day the Large Board of Appeal of the European Patent Office (EPA) will hold a public hearing on patents on broccoli and tomatoes. The result of this precedence case will affect all other patent applications covering conventionally bred plants and animals. Therefore we are calling a demonstration in front of the EPA in Munich (Erhardtstrasse 27, Bob v. Bentheim Platz 1) and intend to be present for the duration of the hearing.

Also attending:

The „large inflatable tomato“ and „the world’s largest broccoli“

We won’t leave the decision about our livelihood to the patent office!

We want clear prohibitions of patents on plants and animals !

Please spread the word, mobilize and come yourself!
